

1) What is the applicability of Deep Learning methods to aerospace design?

2) Is there something about Deep Learning for predictions that will outperform the traditional surrogate modeling approaches for arbitrary problems?

